Subject: Weekly Lake/River update

Good day everyone,

With weather about to turn warm and sunny, snow melt water will soon begin to flow into Lake Cowichan and will help to refill the lake.

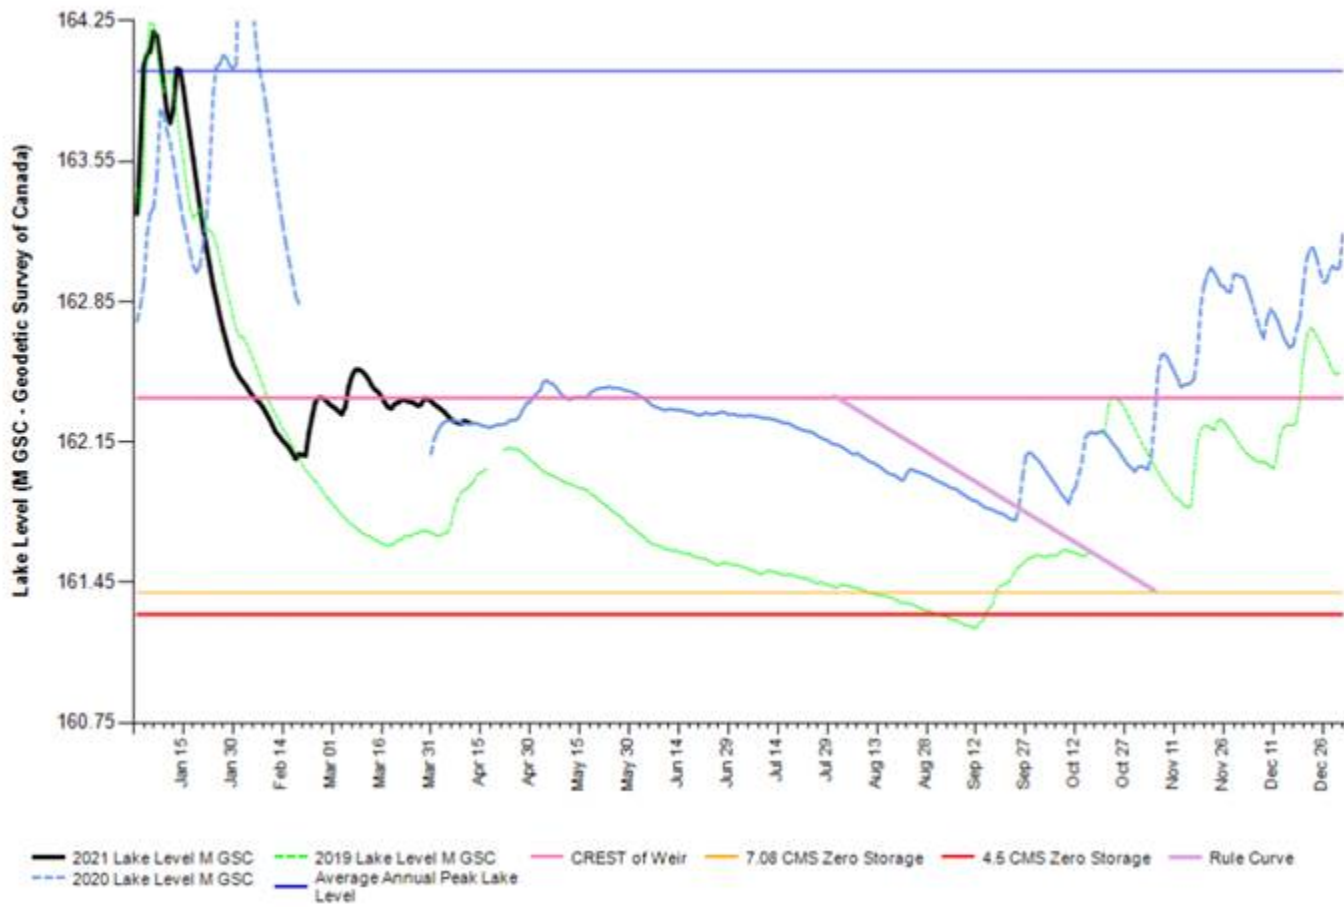

We are now releasing water at seasonal 25 cms and will continue with this flow until end of April.

When May begins, river flow will be ramped down to 15 cms and be held there until June 15.

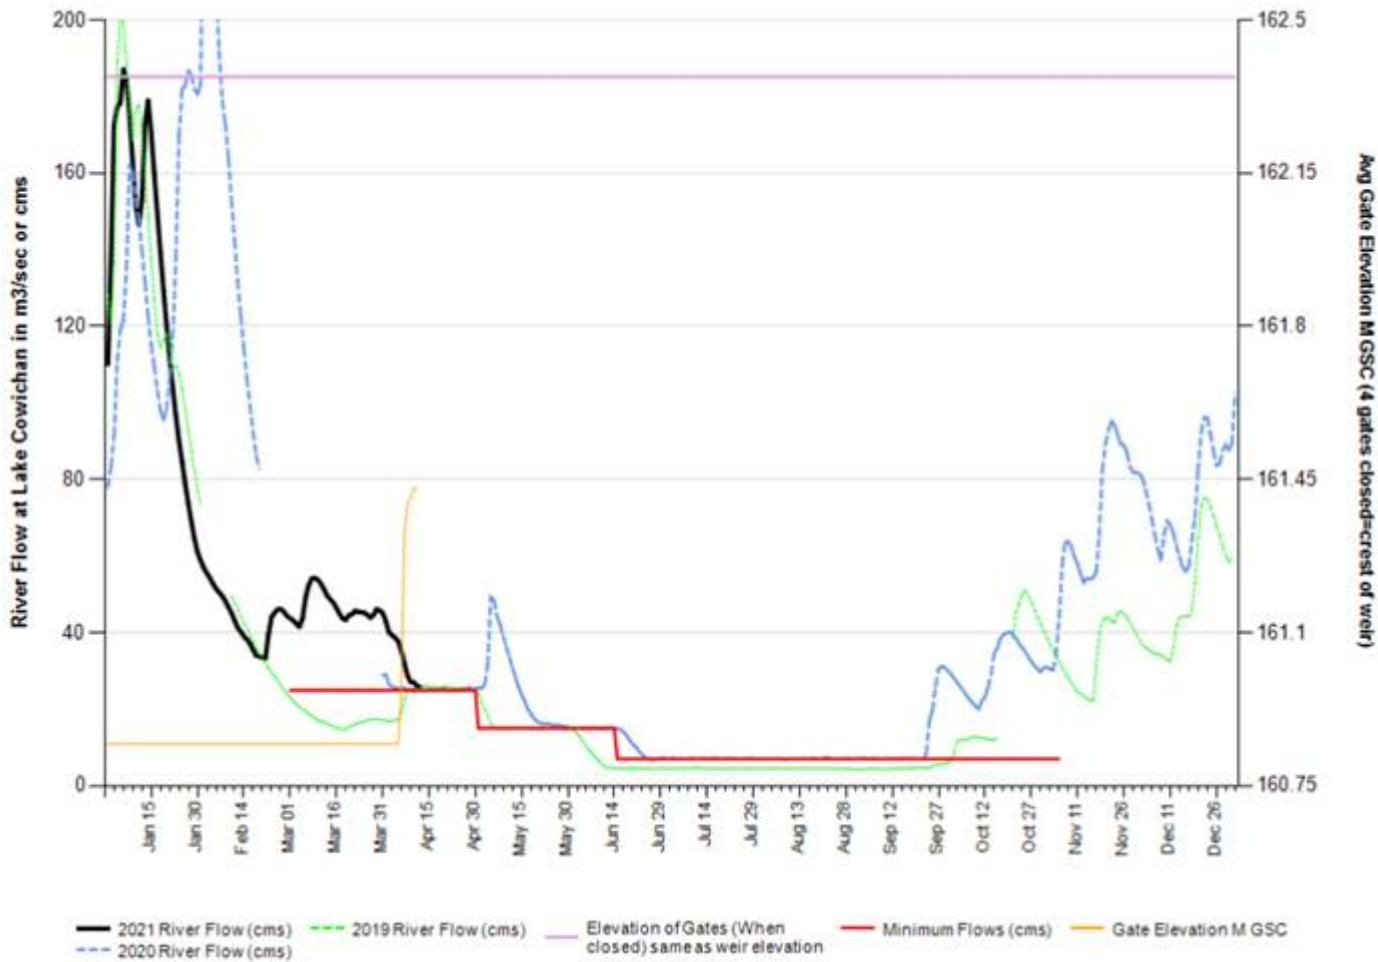

It is good to see that conditions have shifted from more similar to 2019 to now, more similar to 2020.

Regards,
Brian Houle
