Good morning,

Not much to update at this time with lake level just below full supply and wet weather coming and going.

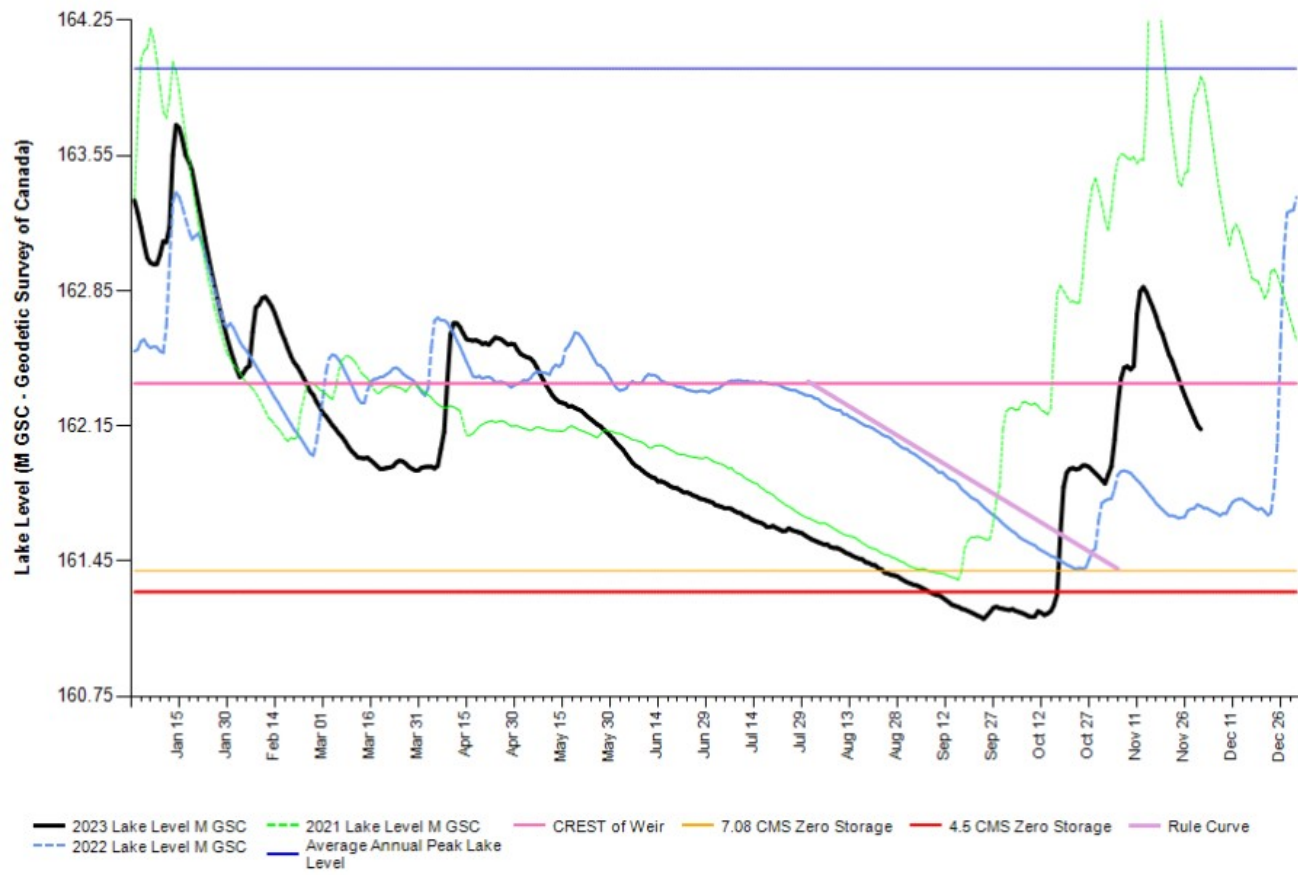

Interesting to see the contrast of last year's drought, much lower lake levels, and 2021's very high lake levels.

A wet weather system is predicted for coming days and as you can see last year, when a wet system arrives, lake level can rise very quickly.

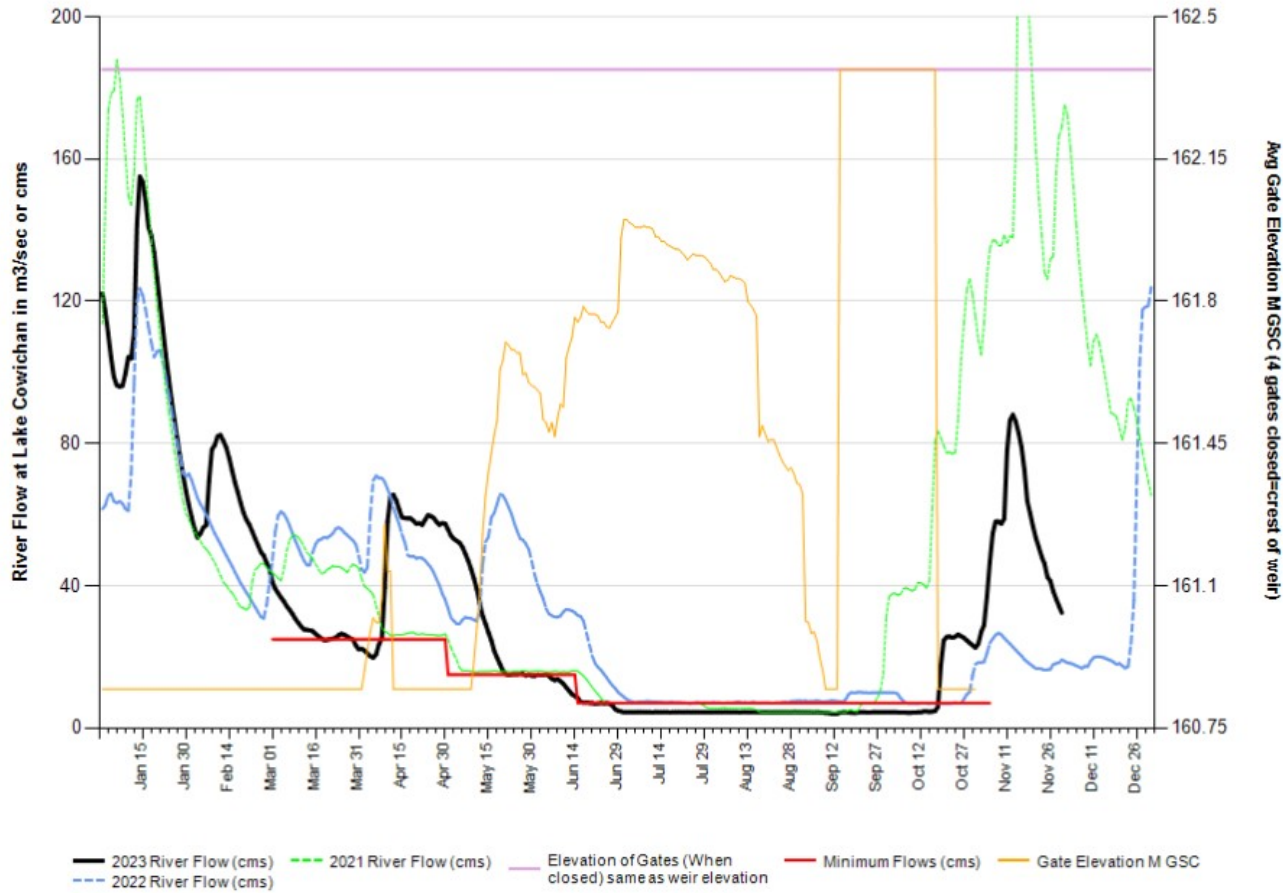

Regards and all the best of the holiday season,

Brian
