Greetings,

Conditions continue to be very good in watershed.

Wet weather predicted and wet weather happening and thankfully, not too much wet weather yet.

In river work at the River Pump House continues this week and is progressing very well.

I expect dredging in front of river pump house will end later this week and it is possible everything removed from river by Friday.

With increasing risk of more rainfall, it is best that the in river work finishes this week and before higher river flows arrive.

Reminder of the special river celebration that everyone is welcomed to attend is happening this coming Sunday.

The river day celebration is on September 22, Sunday from 10:00 AM to 3:00 PM.

Normal weekly trends are included below the snip of the poster for Sunday's river celebration.

Regards,

Brian
